Profile

Recent BSCS graduate with a strong foundation in computer science and software development. Passionate about teaching and mentoring students in programming, databases, and emerging technologies. Skilled in Android development (Java, xml), database management (SQLite, Firebase), and python. Good at explaining complex topics in a simple way, helping students develop problem-solving skills, and creating an engaging learning environment. Looking for a teaching position to share my knowledge and inspire students in the field of computer science.
